

TARIFF CONFEREES CALLED TOGETHER

Charges That Leather Schedule Con- tains a Joker Causes Meeting of Final Framers.

PRESIDENT VOUCHES FOR THE MEASURE

Washington, Aug. 2.—President Taft has written a letter to Senator Brown endorsing the language of the conference report in reference to the committee compromise on the hide and leather question.

Washington, Aug. 2.—With the tariff conference report facing threatened defeat in the senate on account of an alleged "joker" in the hide and leather compromise, it was decided to reassemble the conference committee at 3 o'clock p. m. today to prepare an official explanation.

It was understood that the reassembly of the conferees was a result of interference between the president and Senator Aldrich, although it was at the white house that the president had no part in the reconvening of the conferees.

Members of the western republican caucus aided by the democratic members in compelling the reading of the conference report in full enabled the supporters of the conference report to take a new poll of the senate.

Much to their surprise they found that their previous canvasses were valueless. There seemed to be a revolt among the westerners on account of the phraseology that had been adopted by the conferees in adjusting the differences in the hide and leather paragraph.

Talk of a "Joker" Was Rife.

Charges that the leather compromise harbored a "joker" had been heard. Some of the dissatisfied senators said that the duty on boots and shoes had not been reduced to 10 per cent as claimed by the conferees. The language of the conference report imposing a duty of 10 per cent on boots and shoes is as follows:

"That boots and shoes, the upper leather of which is made wholly or in chief value from such hides (hides admitted free of duty) shall pay a duty of 10 per centum ad valorem."

Senators from cattle states assert that there are no shoes of that description used in the United States and that the reduction, therefore, is valueless, as all other shoes of leather are made dutiable at 15 per cent.

Realizing that some heroic measure would have to be taken in order to restore public confidence some of the conferees before the meeting expressed a willingness to adopt a resolution permitting the conferees to revise their action in regard to the hide and leather question.

Believed Explanation Would Do.

The older and more conservative members said that this would not be necessary. They believe that if an explanation were made the public would accept it in good faith, especially if President Taft gave the explanation his endorsement.

There were several things about the settlement of the differences between the house and the senate over the lumber schedule that were the subject of condemnation on the part of the senators from the middle western states and it was reported that the conferees may include in whatever statement they make some explanation of their action in regard to that schedule. The increase above the Dingley rates made on shingles is objected to particularly by the insurgents.

Senator Aldrich went to the white house shortly after noon. Several other senators had preceded him there. All of the white house visitors said that the president had declared that the language used in the conference report was not a "joker" and that he had understood that the phraseology employed had been necessary to meet the situation.

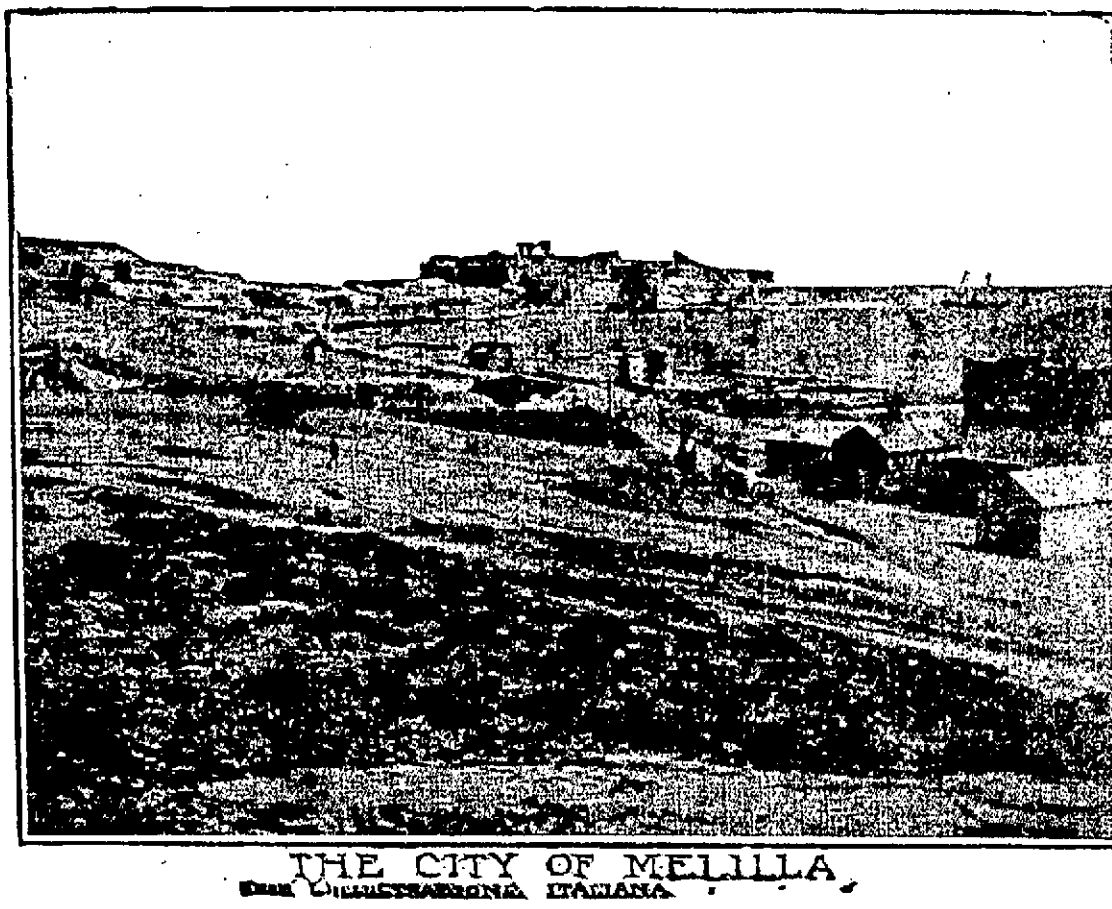

As soon as the chairman of the finance committee returned to the capitol he called a meeting of the conferees. The call included the house members as well as the senate members.

MEETING FRAUGHT WITH IMPORTANCE

Purposed to Strengthen an Entente of France, Russia and England.

Cowes, Eng., Aug. 2.—The Russian imperial yacht Standart, bringing the emperor and the empress from Cherbourg to Cowes on a visit to King Edward, anchored in the Cowes roadstead this afternoon. The imperial visitors were given an official welcome, even more imposing than usually attends these important occasions.

Pick of the Fleet Displayed.

Not only were King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the prince and princess of Wales and a large gathering of royalty present, but 150 of the pick of the British war fleet, dressed in flags from stern to stern and flying the Russian ensign, encircled the anchorage allotted to the Standart.

The presence of the British foreign secretary, Sir Edward Grey; M. Isvolsky, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, and Count Von Benckendorff, the Russian ambassador to Great Britain, further emphasized the significance that attached to the diplomatic world to this visit of the Russian emperor to England.

Strengthening Triple Entente.

The unusual welcome of this morning was arranged designedly for the double purpose of helping to strengthen the links in the chain binding Great Britain, France and Russia in a triple entente and to dissipate any ill feeling engendered by the harsh denunciation of Emperor Nicholas and his methods so frequently vented by the members of the labor party, both in and out of parliament, since the coming of the emperor was first announced. The function, however, was distinctly official in character and so strongly were the immediate participants and spectators entrenched behind the cordon of steel walls that there was no chance for a popular demonstration either for or against Emperor Nicholas.

Two Sovereigns Review Fleet.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra went out on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert and met the Standart outside of Spithead. King Edward went over to the Standart and welcomed his guests and then escorted them to the Victoria and Albert where lunch was served. Afterward the two sovereigns reviewed the assembled fleets from the Victoria and Albert.

CZAR LEAVES CHERBOURG.

Cherbourg, Aug. 2.—Emperor Nicholas of Russia left here today on board the imperial yacht Standart for Cowes to visit King Edward. The Standart and the Russian warships conveying her were escorted to the middle of the channel by a number of French war vessels. Foreign Minister Isvolsky today confirmed the reported intention of Emperor Nicholas of going to Italy and Turkey, but said these visits would not occur until the fall. Emperor Nicholas will go to these countries direct from the Crimea.

Mrs. R. S. Taylor, who has been a patient at Hope hospital for the past week, is making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Special Train Hit Freight

That City.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 2.—Engineer O. D. McCorry, was killed and three other trainmen were severely injured this afternoon when a special Grand Rapids and Indiana passenger train collided with a freight train at the first street crossing. Baggageman Ed. M. Hall, Fireman Crouse and Conductor Charles Lonergan were cut and bruised.

ALL RESIDED IN FORT WAYNE.

Oliver D. McCorry was married and resided at 63 Wallace street. Conductor Charles Lonergan and Baggageman Ed. M. Hall are also Fort Wayne residents, the former residing at 826 Hugh street, and Edward Hall boards on Harrison street. All are well known in Fort Wayne railway and brotherhood circles.

FIRE LOSS GREATER DUE TO ERROR IN ALARM

West Leith Street Homes
Burn While Laddies
Go Elsewhere.

An error in the transmission of a fire alarm about 9:20 o'clock this morning resulted in the flames that had originated in an unknown manner in George Franz's home at 124 West Leith street getting an exceptionally good start and inflicting a damage of $500 on the Franz home and of $150 on the George J. Wirth residence at 128 West Leith street before the mistake was discovered and the fire extinguished. The residences are situated near the corner of West Leith and Harrison streets and the location of the fire was received at the headquarters at the corner of Harrison and West Main streets.

Chief Ellibrecht greatly deplors that such an occurrence should happen as the central girls in the Home Telephone office through which the alarm was given are generally very careful as are also the laddies at the central house. The chief is making an investigation though it appears that little can be done as the mistake is one of those which will happen in spite of all things.

No one was at home at the Franz residence when the fire was first covered by a neighbor as Mr. Franz had just gone down town after returning from Detroit where he took his family on a vacation trip. The rear of the roof is the part mostly badly damaged with the rear interior of the house partially gutted. The roof of the Wirth residence caught fire from the Franz flames but that fire was easily controlled.

Mr. Franz is a cigarmaker in the Aumann shop and Mr. Wirth a telephone operator for the Pennsylvania. Both have their homes insured.

Mental State.

TRIAL RECORD IS QUOTED LIBERALLY

Aged Mrs. Thaw is Wrought
Up to a High Pitch of Excitement.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The third week of the supreme court hearing of Harry K. Thaw's habeas corpus proceedings to secure his release from the state hospital for criminal insane opened today.

Expectation that the Matteawan prisoner or his wife might take the stand again at any minute packed the court room long before 10 o'clock, when Justice Mills opened the morning session. Thaw appeared refreshed after his two days' rest.

District Attorney Jerome took up the reading of testimony from the second trial, where he left off last Friday afternoon. From the several bound volumes of court minutes at his elbow he selected that containing the evidence of Catherine O'Neill, a former seamstress in the Thaw household in Pittsburgh. This related chiefly to Thaw's acts during childhood, particularly his fits of passion.

Mr. Jerome explained that this was the only means of getting such testimony before the court and on the record. The story of Thaw's childhood and the influences affecting his birth, as told by his mother, followed.

Mrs. Wm. C. Thaw, who sat behind her son, seemed about to lose control of herself. Her face flushed and she used her palm leaf fan to hide the twitching of her lips. Her testimony presented Thaw as a victim of extreme nervousness from birth.

Ready Much Testimony.

Jerome read successively testimony regarding the prisoner's mental condition given at the trial by his kindergarten teacher in Pittsburgh, Abraham Brick, whose school he attended in 1881-1882; Miss Alice C. Fletcher, an old family friend; Christopher Baggiem, steward of Thaw's whist club in New York, where just before he killed White the young man deposited three cigarettes in the safe; Attorney Gossett, a trained nurse, who attended him at Monte Carlo; Dr. Charles A. Bailey, a physician of Albany, N. Y., who attended Thaw when he was sick on a train between Albany and New York in 1905; Anthony Comstock and Dr. Horatio C. Wood, who told of the insanity of members of Thaw's family.

From the testimony of Evelyn Thaw, the district attorney selected first those portions which referred to her husband's actions when she told him of her treatment by White, especially his wild sobbing. He read also her story of Thaw's alleged attempt to kill himself with laudanum at a hotel in Paris, and of the killing of White. Other trial witnesses from whose testimony extracts were given were August Wener, the Thaw butler in Washington; Charles F. Koehler, one of the prisoner's teachers at Worcester university; Martin Green, C. Thomas Hanly, a New York newspaper man, who saw the shooting; Matilda C. Stein, telephone operator at the Grand hotel, Paris; Caroline Lowery, witness of the shooting; Wm. A. Johnson, New York newspaper man, who saw Thaw just before he killed White, and Lionel Strausen, witness of the shooting. All said Thaw's actions when they met him were irrational.

To Show Concealment of Delusions.

Some of Thaw's examination before the sanity commission in March, 1907, followed. He told these commissioners that his expression "an act of Providence," referring to the death of White, had no special significance, being used only for convenience.

"Our purpose," Mr. Jerome told the court, "is to show that concealment of delusions is by no means an uncommon condition."

INSURGENTS ARE SUMMARILY SHOT

At Fort Mont Juich 119 of

SPAIN MAKES A DENIAL OF REPORT

Revolutionary Fever Grows
Hotter in Northern Part of Spain.

Paris, Aug. 2.—A special dispatch received here from Cerebere reiterates the previous reports that a number of communists in Catalonia have proclaimed a republic and declares that the municipality of Palamos has declared that it is to be free and independent.

London, Aug. 2.—A special dispatch received here from Cerebere on the Spanish frontier, says the reports that 119 insurgents of Barcelona were sentenced by court-martial to death and executed by shooting yesterday at the fort of Mont Juich, have been officially confirmed.

SPAIN MAKES DENIAL.

Madrid, Aug. 2.—The military authorities today denied that the revolutionists sentenced to death at Barcelona already have been executed. They say that the sentences are awaiting the approval of the minister of war and that in the meantime the prisoners are being held in the dungeons of the Mont Juich and Citarinas forts. Those of the prisoners who are wounded are in hospitals.

SITUATION IN BARCELONA.

Paris, Aug. 2.—The facts as to the situation at Barcelona remain somewhat shrouded, as no correspondent has yet reached the city, which is isolated by land and sea. The censored reports coming out of Madrid are suspected of being over optimistic. Nevertheless, it appears certain that General Santiago has succeeded in restoring a semblance of order in the city, and today a serious effort to resume work will be made. At the solicitation of the authorities the employers of Barcelona have agreed to offer a premium of a week's wages to every person coming back to work.

At what cost in life and property comparative tranquillity has been restored in Barcelona, however, continues unknown. The various reports agree that the troops by the use of machine guns drove the revolutionists back. The main body of the mob escaped and took refuge behind the barricades in the workmen's quarter, whence the revolutionists were finally expelled by shells from the guns on Fort Montjuich.

Slaughter Was Terrible.

Refugees arriving at the frontier speak of the "terrible slaughter" and estimate the dead at thousands, but allowances must be made for panic. Whether or not the ring-leaders, who were captured and were condemned by court martial, have been executed is not yet clear. Some reports declare that General Santiago has not yet approved the death sentences. It is known, however, that Emiliano Iglesias, editor of the Progreso, was shot without trial.

But if order has been restored at Barcelona it seems equally certain that the outlying country, especially the district north of the city, is in the hands of the revolutionists, and that the task of reducing the remainder of the province will probably entail much additional bloodshed. Even the official dispatches from Madrid speak of the necessity of restoring order in the interior of the province and of the difficulty of "dislodging the anarchists" who have taken refuge in the mountains.

Some reports insist that a republic has already been proclaimed and that a regular junta is directing the operations of the revolutionists.

CONDITION VERY GRAVE.

Bayonne, France, Aug. 2.—Reliable news regarding the situation in Spain received here this morning from San Sebastian represents conditions as very grave throughout the northern part of the country, where all the trades unions have given notice of the beginning of a general strike today.

The government has sent all the telegraph and telephone wires in the affected provinces; the purpose is to prevent the leaders of the strike movement from communication with each other. The transmission of newspapers and dispatches has been entirely stopped, forcing a suspension of a majority of the journals.

The greatest excitement reigns among the working classes. Reports received here direct from Madrid say that King Alfonso is greatly depressed over the interior situation. He desires to throw his personal popularity in the scale and it was with difficulty that he could be dissuaded from going to Barcelona. Premier Maura told him it would be equivalent to suicide to enter that hot-bed of anarchy.

Some of the highest officers of the army are protesting vigorously against the maintenance of the censorship. They regard this restriction as foolish and useless and giving place to the wildest and most exaggerated stories. Gen. Lopez Dominguez and General Polavieja, members of the superior council of war, have protested formally against the censorship, saying that they had received dispatches from officers at the front insisting that all the anxiety has been caused through the useless censorship. Both generals declare that this has only aggravated matters and that it will be better to tell the entire truth.

COL. C. P. FERRY DIES IN SAN DIEGO

Fort Wayne Man Became a Millionaire in Land
Investments.

WIDELY KNOWN AS "DUKE OF TACOMA"

End Came Suddenly After a Health-Seeking Trip to Europe.

Col. Clinton P. Ferry, former Fort Wayne man, who figured conspicuously in the development of the city of Tacoma, Wash., and who amassed immense wealth as the result of real estate investments there, died very suddenly Saturday in San Diego, Cal. But three of four weeks ago Col. Ferry returned from Europe, where he had gone in search of health. Col. Ferry was 73 years of age.

COL. CLINTON P. FERRY,
Former Fort Wayne Man and Wealthy
Resident of Tacoma, Who Died Suddenly.

For several years his health had been failing, and little more than a year ago he went to Europe in the hope of receiving benefit from travel and change of scene. He did not improve, however, and but a few weeks ago returned to America in charge of a nurse, who was secured upon the advice of Col. Ferry's daughter, residing in Strasburg, Germany. Friends here were not aware of the serious condition of the patient, however, and news of his sudden death at San Diego was a profound shock. It had been Colonel Ferry's custom for several years to spend a portion of his time at San Diego.

Son of Fort Wayne Lawyer.

Col. Ferry was born in Fort Wayne in 1836, the son of Lucien P. Ferry, one of the city's earliest lawyers and a man of marked brilliancy and great distinction. The son attended the early schools of the city, worked for a time in the office of The Sentinel when this newspaper was published by Mr. Woods, and at an early age became cashier for the Toledo, Wabash and Western railroad in this city. Two years later the young man left Fort Wayne for the west, and for twenty years worked along the coast between San Francisco and Portland.

His judgment led him to select Tacoma as his opportunity, and in 1868 he located there. Every dollar he could secure was invested in real estate.

SMITH SLATED FOR SCHOOL BOARD SECRETARY

Mr. Fuelber is Likely to be Chosen President in Reorganization.

J. McBeth Smith will succeed J. H. Fry as a member of the Fort Wayne city school board when that body meets this evening for reorganization, and in all probability the new member will be elected to the secretaryship of the board.

Mr. Fuelber has served as secretary and as treasurer, and in the natural order of things he will be elevated to the presidency. E. W. Cook, who has already held all three positions on the board, will probably be chosen treasurer for the new year.

Some minor matters will come before the board for attention after the organization this evening.

Start Work at Once.

Contracts have already been signed with Paul Kinder for the construction of the new Tenth ward school and with J. M. Henry for the building of the new Washington school, and work on both new buildings will commence this week. Under the provisions of the specifications under which bids were invited for the Washington school, the present building becomes the property of Mr. Henry.

While the Washington school is being constructed, the pupils of that school will be transferred to the old high school building with the exception of a few of them whom it may be possible to accommodate at the Jefferson school. The Tenth ward building is to be erected on a new location and its construction will not interfere with the occupancy of the present Holton avenue building.

CHICAGO FACING BIG CAR STRIKE

Menace of a General Tie-Up of City's Lines Growing Darker.

UNION HEADS MEET TO FRAME DEMANDS

Like Vote Will be Taken
Thursday and Big City
May Have Fight On.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The lowering of a threatened strike on all city street car lines grew darker when heads of local unions met today to draw up resolutions to be presented to the men at meetings tonight.

The chiefs who met for this purpose were President Buckley, of the south local; President Quinlan, of the north and west side locals, and Presidents Waters and Carter, of suburban locals.

The resolutions in general will demand an increase of wages and in addition the southside men will determine whether to demand a closed shop agreement. Other locals already have their own arrangements.

Strike Vote Thursday.

The resolution, it is said, will also provide for the taking of a strike vote later than Thursday, providing, of course, that the differences are not settled sooner. The employers today refused the advance. They suggested arbitration, which the men in turn rejected.

Before a strike may be called W. D. Johnson, president of the International Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, must be called upon for a final effort to adjust the trouble. This is compulsory under the rules of the organization.

ARE SECURING IDEAS.

Country Club Directors Writing to Points Over Country.

Directors of the new Fort Wayne Country club are writing to numerous places about the country in an effort to secure some new and valuable ideas in the erection of their club home south of the city. The reports are to be turned over to the building committee, which is making arrangements to have the erection work taken up next fall.

A report has been given circulation that the country club has been dropped, but the officers of the organization emphatically state that this is untrue, as the club has purchased and owns its grounds and has sufficient funds to inaugurate the building work.

Dayton Inventors Set Up
Claim to the Entire Principle.

Dayton, O., Aug. 2.—Wilbur Wright arrived home from Washington this morning. Orville and Miss Catherine arrived yesterday. The brothers are already busy at their shop on West Third street. They will remain in Dayton about two weeks. Orville will then go to Berlin.

The brothers have always refused to say anything against their competitors, but they declared this morning that all aeroplanes that have left the ground are distinct and undeniable infringements on their invention. They will not trouble themselves to bring suit against the hordes of experimenters, but they will proceed against any man or corporation attempting to place a machine on the market in this country. In Europe the patents will be defended by the companies to which they have been assigned. The monoplane does not differ in principle from the machine patented and used by the Wright brothers.

SWAIN UNDER ARREST.

Charged With Aiding Perry Baker in Robbing Railroad Cars.

Charles Swain, a laborer, who has been in trouble a number of times on account of petty thieving, was arrested by Patrolman Johnston of the Nickel Plate this morning on the charge of having been implicated with Perry Baker in the robbery of a number of cars and with stealing some property from the yards. He said Baker stole the property and gave it to him.

Baker had partially recovered from the effects of cocaine today and he was photographed and measured and was slated for a preliminary hearing before Justice Huser.

SHOT WINONA POLICEMAN.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 2.—Policeman Lon Howe, of Winona Lake, was shot four times Sunday night by Austin Miller, aged 20, of Galesville, Fla. Miller assisted Howe home, called a physician and then took a train to Chicago. Miller claimed Howe made derogatory remarks about his mother at Winona. One's condition is serious.

COUNTY BOARD GETS AFTER LIQUOR DEALERS

Saloon Men Kept on the Jump—Other Matters in the Courts.

Saloonkeepers who have the reputation of running disreputable places are being closely watched today and as fast as they came up in the commissions court seeking licenses they were rigidly examined by the members of the board and although none had been turned down this afternoon the fellows with shady reputations were trembling.

Principal among these was Frank Belchin who was recently convicted under the blind tiger act following the discovery of a man and a woman in a house adjoining his place over which he had control and in which he was delivering drinks. His place has long had a bad reputation among the police.

Dave Randall, who has been in more or less trouble with the police, was jerked up before the board although there was no complaint against him but his place is looked upon with disfavor by the police and an effort was made to have him put out of business. There are some others to hear from and taken all together the day has been a rather strenuous one for liquor men who are beginning to take notice now that they know the board is determined to rid the county of bad saloons if it can be accomplished.

Theodore Henry, who applied for a license to run a place on Maumee avenue near Concordia college, was persuaded to withdraw his application but Clarence Thomas, who wants to operate at Woodburn would not be persuaded to withdraw and his case is set for Friday so that personal remonstrances can be fled.

Frank E. Johnston, who resigned from the police force to open up the old Dick Nahrwald saloon at Creighton avenue and Smith street, proved that he had a clean bill of sale for the place, that he is going into business on his own account and that he has a good reputation. The license was granted.

Carl Herford admitted that he filed a personal remonstrance against Norman Hendrickson because he wanted to collect some money that Jack Lounsbury, former proprietor of the place to be opened by the applicant, owed him. Hendrickson was able to show a good record and the license was granted.

Judge Threw Up Hands.

The case of Oscar E. Kaufman against Joseph Nook, which is a charge of venue case from Whitley county and is of no local interest, except that Governor Thomas R. Marshall was one of the lawyers before he was elected, was up in the superior court this morning on a question of veracity of the lawyers. Judge Heaton just threw up his hands when it came to this point and left the lawyers alone to fight it out.

A short absence served to bring the lawyers together and a judgment rendered on misunderstanding will be set aside and the case will be tried on its merits. Judge C. W. Watkins, of Huntington, is one of the attorneys and he was in court this morning.

Big Slander Suit.

Lottie B. Scherer, wife of George W. Scherer, of Abbot, filed through Attorney Harry G. Hogan in the superior court today a complaint in which she asks $3,000 damages of Mrs. Jessie Roberts for slander. The latter is charged with saying things that reflected on the chastity of Mrs. Scherer.

DePree Has Sued Alma.

Edward C. DePree has sued Alma DePree for divorce, alleging they were married March 27, 1905, and that she abandoned him a year and a half later. H. G. Hogan is attorney.

The restraining order obtained by Mary Heinelein against Attorney Heinelein to prevent him from drawing his wages has been dissolved.

Articles of Incorporation were filed by the Modern Engineering and Construction company. The capital stock is $20,000 and the incorporators are William P. and Arthur M. Burling and Heber L. Holmes.

tate at a time when development of that region had not yet begun. He bought heavily of the land at a low price, while others stood back and declared his course a wild folly. So widely did the story of his investments spread that Col. Ferry soon became known as "the Duke of Tacoma," a sobriquet of which he subsequently became very proud, and which clung to him down to the day of his death.

Saw Wealth Pile Up.

The years brought immense development to the west and justified Col. Ferry's judgment. He saw his thousands of acres of real estate rise rapidly in value, but to this rise Col. Ferry lent the impetus of his forceful personality. He was one of Tacoma's principal spirits in the progress of the city and his name was identified with practically every progressive effort in that city for more than thirty years. While his holdings were largely in real estate, he was also identified with newspapers, with trolley lines and other avenues of development, and became easily the foremost citizen of Tacoma.

Down to the last Col. Ferry retained his grasp of business affairs, and even in failing health he exercised watchful direction over his large interests. He went to Europe but a short time in advance of the Messina earthquake, and his itinerary had included a visit to southern Italy. For a time friends here feared that he might have been in the disaster, but the traveler had not proceeded south of France and Switzerland. He had a summer home at Zurich.

Warm Interest in Fort Wayne.

While Colonel Ferry had been absent from Fort Wayne for many years, he always retained a kindly interest in the city of his birth, and did not fail to pay it a visit when opportunity offered.

FOR THE SAKE OF OTHERS

Considers It Her Duty to Tell.

I write this for publication with the hope that it will influence others who suffer as I did to try the great Root Juice remedy. The wonderful medicine has done so much good for me that I feel it my duty to tell it. For years I spent a life of misery but thanks to the great discovery, I am now free from every ache or pain. I, like many others, was very skeptical when the papers first told of the many hundreds of cures Root Juice was making, but after seeing several people that were using it I concluded to try it, although I felt that every organ of my body was almost worn out. My liver was torpid, my kidneys were weak and my stomach was in a horrible condition. At times it felt like it was full of rocks. A great deal of gas formed and I had weak spells frequently and was badly constipated. My appetite was very poor and even in hot weather my hands and feet were cold. I was using some kind of medicine most of the time, without much benefit. After taking the Juice a few days I began to improve. I have used four bottles and am feeling better than I have for twenty years, and I believe the remedy has permanently cured me.—Mrs. J. A. Colbert, R. R. No. 1, Fort Wayne, Ind.

The great remedy has done worlds of good here, as any one can learn by calling at Bradley Bros., the successors to Wagner drug store, 627 Calhoun st. north of Transfer corner. Root Juice is sold for $1.00 a bottle, or three for $2.50.

ate convened today only seven or eight senators were in their seats. Senator Aldrich, chairman of the conference committee, was there, however, and urged prompt consideration of the conference report on the tariff bill.

The committee's record of its long proceeding in conference was read by the reading clerk, during which a number of other senators entered the chamber.

Moving rapidly over the amendments agreed to by the conferees the clerk was interrupted by Senator Heyburn. "The clerk has made no reference to the maximum and minimum provisions," said the Idaho senator, addressing the presiding officer.

Raised Quite a Howl.

"He has omitted the cotton schedule," declared Mr. Clapp. "It is obvious that at least twenty pages have been turned over without reading," commented Mr. Culberson, joining the two republican senators in insisting upon a careful compliance with the rules. Through the chair the reading clerk protested that he had read all, but his protest only called a rebuke for himself from Mr. Heyburn.

By this time nearly all the senators on both sides of the chamber had taken their seats and the reading of the report was resumed, the senators had secured themselves in favor of the reading of every word of the report, apparently paying no further attention to it.

There was general confidence that the bill would go through, but still there was enough uncertainty to lend spice to the situation.

Renewed public interest in the proceedings was shown by the large attendance in the galleries.

INSURGENTS ARE SUMMARILY SHOT

SPAIN BLUNDERED AT MELLILA.

Oran, Algeria, Aug. 2.—Officers of the steamer Emer, which came in here today from Mellila, referring to the fighting there between the Spaniards and the Moors of July 27, say the Spaniards made the mistake of advancing in solid masses through the gorge sided by hills, whence the enemy shelled them with success. Many of the Spaniards had only just disembarked and were without rations.

WOUNDED IN TEARFUL PLIGHT.

San Sebastian, Spain, Aug. 2.—Further particulars received here regarding the situation at Mellila say that arrangements for caring for the wounded are deplorable. There are but few doctors on the scene and medicines, surgical instruments and other appliances are almost entirely lacking. During the fighting of July 27 the staff of General Marina, the commander of the Spanish forces, was decimated. Some companies lost half of their strength and three-quarters of their officers. All the reports speak of the bravery of the men and officers, but dwell upon the stupidity of the antiquated tactics employed and the disorganization of the commissariat.

NEWS FROM BARCELONA.

Barcelona, Aug. 2.—Order today was almost completely restored in Barcelona proper, but trouble continued in the outskirts of the city. Railroad communication with Barcelona had not yet been re-established. The losses suffered by commerce during the rioting of the last week have been enormous and the destruction of property great.

Among the victims of the military court martial are two members of the chamber of deputies and eight aldermen of Barcelona.

mon thing among paranoics and that this act of Providence' idea was used by the prisoner at the very commencement of the thing."

The sanity commission, Jerome's reading of the report, tested the prisoner repeatedly on this point. To them he explained that he advised Attorney Delmas to picture him as a "tool of Providence," principally because it was a popular attitude. Thaw's assertion to the commission, "everything done in this case is under my authority," created a stir in the court room in view of Justice Mills' recent hints regarding "exaggerated ego."

Mr. Jerome reminded the court that Thaw had quoted and applied to his own case the passage from the book of Samuel beginning "And the people said unto Saul, 'Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation unto Israel?'"

THE DEATHS.

Mrs. Sophia Sommers, 81 years of age, died at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Treu, in Wayne township, from the infirmities of age. She was the widow of Carl Sommers, a pioneer Fort Wayne photographer, whose death occurred twelve years ago.

Mrs. Sommers was born in Prille, Prouss-Minden, Germany, February 2, 1828, and came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ohm, to Fort Wayne in 1840. Within a year she was married to Mr. Sommers, who conducted a photograph gallery on Calhoun street in the early days.

Surviving are eight daughters, as follows: Mrs. Enoch Cooper, of Springfield, Ill.; Mrs. Sophia Branning, of DeFiance, O.; Mrs. Fred Walzenburg, Mrs. Emanuel Sovine, Mrs. Jacob Hiler, Mrs. Henry Kintz and Mrs. Charlotte Nichols, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. John Treu, of Wayne township; also, a sister, Mrs. Charles Stillborn, of Fort Wayne; twenty-eight grand children and thirteen great grandchildren.

WANTED — Thirty-five first-class laborers for shoveling work. Apply Red Line.

BARELY ESCAPED A PLUNGE INTO RIVER

Auto in Mishap is Halted With Nose at Brink of Precipice.

Five Bluffton gentlemen, en route to Fort Wayne Saturday afternoon to attend the races, barely escaped a plunge down a twenty-foot embankment into St. Mary's river a short distance south of this city. They leaped from the machine as it came to a halt with its nose pointed downward at the brink of the steep precipice. All of them escaped injury, but were given the fright of their lives.

The car was owned by Mr. Fetters, a lumberman at Bluffton, and four friends were with him in the machine. In passing two carriages in the highway the auto was sent over an S wheelie struck a grass plot and one of the rear wheels gave way under the "skidding," whirling the auto squarely across the highway with its nose pointed down into the stream. The broken wheel allowed the axle to pivot into the earth sufficiently to stop the machine an instant before it would have taken its headlong tumble into the river.

Mrs. F. K. Safford Injured.

While Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Safford were driving their machine in the vicinity of the Bash farm Sunday evening, the machine went into a small ditch. Mrs. Safford was frightened and in jumping from the machine sustained a sprained ankle. Other occupants were uninjured and the machine was undamaged, backing out of the ditch a few minutes later.

BILL PASSES THE HOUSE.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The Payne tariff bill was saved by the narrow margin of six votes Saturday night. A change of three votes would have sent the measure back to conference for further revision downward. Twenty-three republicans registered their protest against the increases of the final bill.

They lost by the merest accident. Speaker Cannon was planning for a time to make a speech in favor of the bill. Had he done so three more republicans would have added their protest and would have sent the bill back. But he changed his mind at the last minute and, although he didn't know it, saved the bill.

Cheers When the End Came.

The measure was finally passed at two minutes past 1 o'clock Saturday night. The announcement of the vote brought cheers, somewhat tempered by the sultriness of the night and the general disaffection with the bill. The vote was 195 to 183. Nineteen republicans voted against the bill and two democrats for it.

The republicans who made the final protest against the violation of campaign promises were:

Murdoch, of Kansas; Hubbard, Haugen and Woods, of Iowa; Cary, Lenroot and Nelson, of Wisconsin; Stevens, Steenerson, Nye, Volstead, Lindberg, Davis and Miller of Minnesota; Gronna, of North Dakota; Poindeexter, of Washington, and Mann, of Illinois.

In addition, Southwick, of New York, and Kelfer, of Ohio, voted "no." Nobody knew why.

Broussard and Estepinal, of Louisiana, ostensibly democrats, voted with the republicans.

On motion to send the bill back to conference, all the republicans who voted against the bill on its final passage voted aye except Kelfer.

Went Over on the Final Vote.

In addition these four, although they went over to the organization on the final vote, voiced their protest:

Madison, of Kansas, Kendall, Good and Pickett, of Iowa.

The motion to recommit was defeated by a vote of 191 to 186.

The vote came at the end of a sultry day of perfunctory debate. Long speeches were made by Payne in behalf of the bill, and Clark in opposition. Murdoch, of Kansas, interrupted Longworth, of Ohio, long enough to tell him that the house had no part in making the bill.

"This bill is a compromise between the leaders of the house and the United States senate," Murdoch said. "The members of the house had nothing to do with it."

Many of Illinois, made a lively fight on the print paper and pulp schedule. He pointed out that the maximum and minimum provision probably would go into effect against Canada and would increase the duty on wood pulp to $6.57 a ton. Print paper, he believed, might go to $15 a ton in the case of a tariff war.

There was a lively scrap over the leather joker by which shoes were saved at 15 per cent. Instead of going to 10 as was expected. But the defenders of the bill insisted that court decisions finally would class more shoes at 10 per cent. than are now expected.

CITY COURT CASES.

William Mooney, charged with vagrancy, promised to get out of the city at once and Attorney Amos B. Houk, special judge in the absence of Judge Skelton, who is in Toledo on a vacation, suspended a fine of $5 and costs.

Hightower Artis, a young negro boy, was held to the circuit court under a bond of $500 for forging his grandmother's name to a check.

One plain drunk under the name of John Smith, forfeited $15 that he had deposited for his appearance toward the payment of a fine of $5 and costs.

LYNCHED ON EVE OF LAST TRIBUTE PAID TO DEAD LEADER OF BASEBALL

FUNERAL OF HARRY C. PULLIAM IS HELD AT LOUISVILLE, HIS OLD HOME.

Platte City, Mo., Aug. 2.—George Johnson, white, who murdered John W. Moore, a farmer, June 20, was lynched early today.

Feeling ran so high at the time of the killing that Johnson was taken to Kansas City for safe keeping. His trial was to begin today and he was returned to Platte City yesterday afternoon. Early this morning two men took a third man to the jail reporting him to be a prisoner. When the sheriff opened the jail door, the three overpowered him. Fifty other men quickly appeared and battered down the door of Johnson's cell. He was taken to a tree opposite the jail and strung up.

LAKESIDE DIKE MAY BE TAKEN INTO COURTS

Board Will Not Order an Assessment Roll—The Municipal News.

It is likely that the Lakeside dike retaining wall matter will get into the courts and be fought out there as the members of the board of public works this morning stated to the citizens' committee that has been investigating, that the Herman Tapp Construction company did not turn the wall over to the city in good shape and that it has not been accepted nor will it be until it is properly repaired.

The committee advised that unless arrangements can be made to replace the fallen section that piling be driven to keep the dike intact for the winter and that in the meantime the question of liability will have been settled.

Municipal Matters.

The special election to select a councilman to succeed Philip Wyss, who resigned to become building inspector, has been called for August 10, and it is likely that Louis C. Bobilya, 1815 East Pontiac street, will be the only candidate. He is employed in the Pennsylvania shops.

The board of works had only a few routine matters to come up at the meeting of the body this afternoon.

A CONVICT'S SACRIFICE

Proving That the Noblest Work of God is Man, at the Fairly Tonight and Tomorrow.

"He is noble only who in word, thought and deed, proves himself a man," and you will admit in viewing this biography subject, that this poor unfortunate being was indeed a man in the extreme sense of the word. After serving a long time in the penitentiary, he is released and sent out into the world again; but, like many others, with the brand of Cain still on him. With crushed spirit, bitter against the world, he makes his way through the streets, apparently shunned by all; in fact a social leper. However, there is one man who befriends him, and uses his influence to have him employed as a laborer on street construction work. He now begins to feel that life is worth while, but the very next day fate's treachery demonstrates itself, and, hopes are blighted. It occurs in this way: He is forced through no fault of his own into a bitter quarrel with one of the workmen, and in self-protection lands a fatal blow with his fist, and he is again seen in the terrible grind of prison life. Clad in stripes he toils at breaking stones, cuffed and dogged by despotic guards, until his pent up fury at being treated so, and he makes a dash for liberty. Crawling and creeping like a serpent, and hunted like a rat, he finally comes upon a scarecrow in the field, and dons the tattered garments of the stripes. Thus garbed his fight is more promising, when he espies a notice of the reward of $100 for his capture. Tearing the odious announcement from the post, which action was observed by a country boy, he wanders on only to find he is still pursued by the armed guards, who had been informed by the yokel. Rushing madly on he finally comes upon a dilapidated cottage, which he deems a rather safe haven. Entering, he is astounded to find, that by a strange designing of fate it is the home of the one man who had been his friend when he was released from prison. Desperate poverty together with the illness of one of his children, has shrouded the poor home with sorrow. As the fugitive stands and views the woe-stricken family, his flinty heart softens. He remembers that the man was a friend indeed, when he himself was most in need. Here was his chance to reciprocate, and calling the guards who are lurking outside, forces the man to accept the reward for his capture. As he leaves the house, the self-sacrificing convict falls a victim to one of the vengeful guard's guns. The subject is beautifully acted with many tender touches that sink deep into the heart.

OUT OF ORDINARY METHODS PROVE INTERESTING

Johnson Continues to Meet Enormous Crowds at His Headquarters.

"Take, for instance, the case of Mr. C. Matthews and his wife, Ella, who live at 909 Wylie avenue, Pittsburg, Pa. Both had suffered for years with stomach trouble and unable to get any relief. A few weeks after I came to Pittsburg they decided to give Ka-Vita a trial.

"Two weeks later they came to see me at the store and both of them said they could not express in words the gratitude they felt for being restored to health again. Ka-Vita had removed the stomach trouble and its causes, and accomplished results where all others had failed. Mr. Matthews' statement is as follows:

"For the past two years I have suffered from stomach trouble. I could not eat with any enjoyment because I would have a bloating sensation and felt stuffed up after each meal. Gas would form on my stomach, my tongue was coated and I was constipated. I did not sleep well at night, always felt tired and languid during the day and did not have any ambition at all. I was also very nervous. My wife had suf-

Anything out of the ordinary in this city is bound to be noticed by Fort Wayne people, and not a few of these have had knowledge of the remarkable results that have been accomplished by Ka-Vita during the past week. The new preparation being introduced here by F. H. John-on at Bradley Bros., 627 Calhoun street.

Beginning with the first day of his visit, his theories and the Ka-Vita treatment attracted widespread attention, and the interest has steadily gathered headway until now Ka-Vita is being sold in enormous quantities, and his headquarters is a most interesting place to spend a half hour. People are coming from all parts of the city and surrounding towns to see him. The young man and his assistants are surrounded by swarms of humanity from early until late—some to find out what has been accomplished for them by Ka-Vita; others to buy the treatment.

In speaking of the statements given in publication, Mr. Johnson gave out some interesting facts. He said: "A great many people have come to me for a cure, and asked me whether the persons whose names appeared in the paper were genuine or not. In reply I wish to say that every one is bona fide. These persons have been sick and unable to get any relief until they used Ka-Vita, and the improvement was noticeable almost at once. They have been restored to health, and feel it a pleasure and a duty to tell me what Ka-Vita has done and to let others know."

fected from stomach trouble for about five years and her symptoms were very thing that was recommended for stomach trouble, but could get no relief. We had about given up hope of ever being well again. One day my wife told me about Johnson and the Ka-Vita treatment and the remarkable results it was accomplishing for stomach trouble, but I did not pay any attention to it, for I did not think it would do either of us any good. But my wife was insistent, and finally I called on Johnson in the most skeptical frame of mind possible and bought the treatment.

"We began its use and the results were wonderful. I commenced to feel better almost immediately and so did my wife. This was two weeks ago and now we are both here to say that Ka-Vita is the most remarkable remedy we know. It has restored us both to health, made us feel like new persons and in conclusion I wish to say that as long as we live we shall recommend and tell our friends about the one remedy that does all and more than is claimed for it."

Mr. Johnson or his assistants can be seen every day at Bradley Bros. Drug Store, near the transfer corner, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p. m.

It was a magnificent success, and proved to us that the great Trading Public of Fort Wayne full understands that when the "Big Store" advertises a Special Sale it "Means Business" and can be relied upon to "Make Good."

While our enormous July trade has pretty thoroughly thinned out our spacious salesrooms, the rapid work of the help in our receiving room, in unpacking and getting upon sale the splendid new stock purchased by our buyers, who have just returned from the Furniture Expositions, will completely fill up the vacant places within the next forty-eight hours.

Many fine and very desirable pieces that were in our July sale still remain, and August buyers will still have an opportunity to get these at very great reductions from regular prices.

We shall in addition have many trade surprises for our friends during the coming four weeks.

SPAIN HIDES THE TRUTH.

It is impossible to form any correct estimate of the actual conditions in Spain, and the imminence of danger to the dynasty. That the situation is about as grave as may well be imagined seems a conclusion pretty logically supported by the extreme measures the government has taken to suppress the news.

It is clear that a concerted revolutionary movement is being directed against the government and that northern Spain is extensively aflame. The Barcelona riots and their horrible consequences of incendiarism and slaughter will probably only serve to further inflame the populace of the disaffected regions when the truth of that bloody series of incidents breaks through the now almost impenetrable cordon of the censorship.

Another serious reverse in Africa—a not unlikely contingency by any means—would stir the country to such a pitch of anger as would make a complete revolution most probable. A war that makes no appeal to sentiments of patriotism in a people is the surest way to foment revolt, but a war at once unpopular and disastrous, as in the present case, kindles fury in a people. Riots followed the blunders of Spain in the war with America, but the war itself won popular acclaim, for Spain was fighting for retention of her sovereignty in colonies she had ruled for centuries. The African war is undertaken to bolster the exploitation of private interests and the people of Spain have only repugnance for the conflict.

Meanwhile, not much is known of conditions either at the theater of war in Africa or in the wider theater of internal dissension.

TARIFF BILL IN SENATE.

By a rather perilous squeeze the tariff leaders in the house shunted the tariff bill over on the senate track and that body is now hard at it with much prospect that the measure will reach the hands of the president this week. The conference report had an almost perilous journey through the house, the insurgents standing pat on their opposition as firmly as a standpatter of any other kind. In the senate there have been extensive preparations for oratory and other forms of opposition. Mr. Beveridge and at least a half dozen fellow progressives are expected to wage a last ditch fight against the bill as it came from the conference and are prepared to show that it is full of jokers, tricks, evasions and deceit and is no true embodiment of any sort of revision. The progressives will make every effort to hold all their forces together and stand as a unit against adoption of the report. Senator Aldrich, however, is reported as in no way disturbed, but that on the contrary he is confident of what voters he needs when a vote shall be taken. Southerners are expected to reinforce the republicans to sufficient extent to save the bill. There is, therefore, excellent prospect that the measure will become a law this week.

AS IT IS IN GARY.

Gary's mayor has been practically superseded in preserving the peace and order at the big steel city by the lake. The sheriff of the county and his deputies are going to suppress the "blind pigs," "blind tigers," "speak easies," and other places known by different terms but all referring to resorts where the illegal sale of intoxicants is carried on. Mayor Knotts dabbled with the situation until his inaction had become intolerable to decent citizenship and the state authorities have taken up the work the city executive ignored. Appeal was made the other day to Governor Marshall and he threatened to send the state troops into Gary if the city officials did not perform their duties and put an end to the widespread lawlessness that has had unpunished sway in that city for a long time. "There's nothing in this talk of troops and deputies," says the mayor. "If they want this town closed up tight I will give them what they want." How like the exclamation of a chief of police nearer Fort Wayne than to Gary, who declared, "Now that I know what the mayor wants, I'll close everything tight!" Gary doesn't fancy an invasion of troops and the deputy county prosecutor has taken hold of affairs and will push a campaign with deputy sheriffs against the lawless liquor places. At this distance it looks much as though the Steel Trust's "model city" were due for a thorough cleaning.

Capitalists looking for investments in the banking business will hereafter be quite likely to shy at Tipton, in the otherwise good state of Indiana. The transports of delight into which the populace of that city was thrown by the unexpected return of Defaulter Noah Marker may be regarded as unique in the chronicles of bank looting. His fellow citizens made an impromptu but none the less distinguished social function of the affair and men with money and property made haste to provide a bond for his release from custody of federal officers. It is a happy circumstance that Noah Marker will not be tried for his crime at the scene of his operations in high finance and that his fellow citizens of the home town will most probably be sidestepped altogether when a jury is picked to determine his case.

It will be observed that when Governor Marshall hints to local authorities the wisdom and the duty of enforcing the law he generally gets action. The impression is widespread that the governor is a man whose advice is sound and whose nerve will be equal to exercising a whip hand where occasion is urgent. The awakening at Gary and the suppression of gambling at Jeffersonville followed gentle but firm reminders from the governor.

"I will feed fat the ancient grudge I bear him," doubtless is running with numerous variations through the mind of your Uncle Joe this week. Committee heads and assignments are to be made within a few days and if the amiable speaker overlooks the opportunity to conspicuously slight any insurgent or rules reformer, democrat or republican, he will have a lapse of memory of which there are as yet no premonitory symptoms.

The mayor of Gary finds himself in a position of added dignity, with an assistant prosecutor and a squad of deputy sheriffs enforcing the law and trying to keep the city clean in that city. It's a poor town, however, where forbearance never ceases to be a virtue.

The stand fast and the subsistent voice are not quite so spectacular as the big stick, but they seem to go hand in hand right up to the goal as fearlessly and effectually as the other did.

Considering the elegant latitude for rumors, the King of Spain has lately been assassinated fewer times than might have been expected.

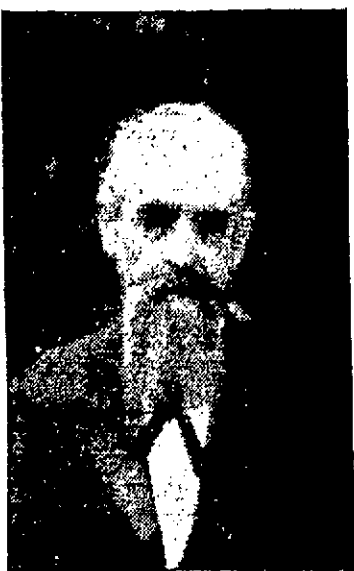

HOT WEATHER MEETING.

The meeting of the Retail Merchants' association this evening will be a "hot weather" one as there are no special subjects scheduled to come up for discussion, though it is understood several of the members have some things they want to talk about. Steps are being taken to make the members attending particularly comfortable this evening.

HAD ACTIVE CAREER AS CITIZEN AND SOLDIER

Daniel Shordon, Pioneer Implement Dealer, Dies at Age of 72.

Following an extended illness, Daniel Shordon, well known citizen, veteran soldier and pioneer Fort Wayne business man, died at St. Joseph's hospital at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the age of 72 years. The end was not unexpected. Mr. Shordon had been in failing health for the past three years, his illness dating from his prostration by a stroke of paralysis. Later came other complications, and finally he was removed two weeks ago to the hospital to undergo a surgical operation as the only promise for restoration to health. Following the apparently successful operation, however, came another paralytic attack with its fatal termination. It was the fourth recurrence of the disease, and for two days prior to his death Mr. Shordon had been unconscious.

DANIEL SHORDON,

Mr. Shordon was born March 15, 1837, in Rochester, N. Y., and came a year later with his parents to Allen county, the family locating in Milan township and later removing to Springfield township. The son was the eldest of twelve children, and after attending the public schools spent a year at the University of Notre Dame. He was engaged in teaching school when the civil war came, and Mr. Shordon enlisted in Captain Scott Swann's Company D, Eighty-eighth regiment of Indiana volunteers. He served three years as a soldier, participating in the battles of Stone River, Chickamauga, Mission Ridge, Lookout Mountain, Perryville and the Atlanta campaign of 140 days, marching with Sherman on the world-famous sweep to the sea. Mr. Shordon was wounded at Chickamauga, and at the close of the war was mustered out as a sergeant. Captain Swann but a few days ago, when he learned of Mr. Shordon's critical illness, spoke feelingly of Mr. Shordon as a friend and declared that he was one of the finest soldiers he had ever known.

Returning to Allen county at the close of the war Mr. Shordon became a farmer, served one term as trustee of St. Joseph township, and forty years ago removed to Fort Wayne and established himself on Columbia street as a dealer in agricultural implements. This he continued successfully for thirty-eight years until two years ago when failing health led him to retire. He was an honorable business man and an estimable citizen, and in 1887 was elected to the city council from the Second ward. Mr. Shordon was a member of the Cathedral congregation. He is survived by the widow, who was formerly Miss Augustine Joly, to whom he was married in 1881; a brother, George Shordon, of Goegleu, and three sisters—Mrs. B. R. Noll and Mrs. Henry Stier, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Charles Huffman, of Denver.

Funeral services Tuesday morning at 8:30 from the residence, 819 Columbia avenue, and at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral. Flag service by the Women's Relief Corps of St. Basil post, G. A. R., Monday evening at 8:20 o'clock at the residence.

That Feeder Canal

CHAPTER I.

If there ever was a DRY subject it is this canal. This is the Bogey that, a quarter century or more after its fangs were pulled, was made to do duty in the late primary campaign.

But evidently it is time that the FACTS about this TERRIBLE BOGEY were made clear to the present generation.

Otherwise the bogey may be trotted out to scare us or our grandchildren again.

Once upon a time, then, the Wabash & Erie canal, that traversed Fort Wayne, passed into the hands of a receiver.

That receiver sold the Fort Wayne Feeder of the W. & E. canal with the St. Joe river dam, which supplied feeder and canal with water, to some capitalists of Fort Wayne.

These capitalists in turn TRIED to sell this water supply to the Fort Wayne waterworks.

They failed to do so and precipitated so vigorous an opposition that politicians managed to use that attempt, and the bitterness generated by it, every recurring election for years AS AN ISSUE.

It really became a dead issue very soon, but politicians galvanized it into a semblance of life for years afterwards.

It was not supposed, however, that anyone at this late date would rout out its ghost and trot it round in a vain attempt to "scare" us.

This Company now owns the site of the dam, which went out in floods over two years ago; owns and is using one bank of the feeder for its trolley lines to and from Robison Park; and owns the feeder itself, which it holds for reserve power purposes and as a means of making more attractive its park property.

It holds it for NO OTHER PURPOSE and it NEVER HAS held it for any other.

When it sees its way financially to restoring the dam—and it secured engineer's estimates of cost earlier this year—it may rebuild it.

These are the FACTS.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES.

Fifteen Young Women Order of Poor Handmaids.

The membership of the Order of the Poor Handmaids of Christ, at St. Joseph's hospital, was augmented by a class of fifteen young women when that number were received Sunday morning. The services were very impressive and quite largely attended. The mass was celebrated by Rt. Rev. Bishop Alerding, who also delivered the sermon and officiated at the reception of the novices. Two sisters made their first vows, five renewed their vows and twelve whose names have been announced made their perpetual.

The bishop addressed the sisters in German, impressing upon them the sacredness of the vows of the religious life. He pointed out the erroneous opinion entertained by women in general regarding a special calling, some feeling that they possessed all the requisites for teachers, nurses, etc. To the young women who were entering upon the new duties of their vocation he presented the necessity of severing themselves from the idea that they were going to concentrate their energies upon this or that one thing and recommended a constant obedience to their superiors.

"The greatest and most important of the vows you have taken is that of obedience," said Bishop Alerding. "Poverty is of the least importance, as your welfare is carefully looked out for; chastity is easy for the virtuous woman, but the vow of obedience will be the most difficult to observe, especially in this day of ours when individual independence is foremost. You have come into the universal consecration of God. You must consecrate yourselves to his service and must enter the religious community because you have a religious vocation."

REV. A. K. ZARTMAN'S VACATION

Sunday Services as Usual This Month at Grace Reformed Church.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Allan K. Zartman, of Grace Reformed church, accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Dieffenbach and son, Allan, of Bluffton, have gone to Rome City, where they will spend the month at the Mohr cottage on the south side of Sylvan lake. Services at the Fort Wayne and Bluffton churches will be held on Sundays, however, the same as usual, the pastors returning each week to occupy their pulpits. The closing days of August Dr. and Mrs. Zartman will go to Winona to attend the bible school conference.

SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED.

Observance of Festival of Portiuncula at St. Peter's Church.

The formal opening of the festival of Portiuncula, which ends at sundown today, took place yesterday at St. Peter's Catholic church. Hundreds visited the church during the afternoon and evening for the gaining of the plenary indulgence attached to each visit made during the appointed time. Many of the congregation received communion either this morning or on Sunday morning. Two eloquent and instructive sermons, one in English, the other German, were delivered at the special services Sunday evening by Rev. George Heldmann, C. P. S., of Collegeville, Ind. His sermons were explanatory of "Indulgences" and of the particular privileges attached to a faithful observance of the festival of Portiuncula. Following the sermons benediction was given by Rev. Charles Thiele, rector of St. Peter's.

This morning high mass was celebrated by the rector and many of the congregation besides parishioners of the local Catholic churches will make pilgrimages to St. Peter's today until sun-down. From Wednesday until over Sunday Father Heldmann will be located at St. Paul's church, where he will perform the pastoral duties. Rev. H. F. Jos. Kroll expecting to take a vacation during that time. Rev. Max Benzinger, of Hesse Cassel, and Rev. Charles Marr, of the Cathedral, were among the assisting clergy at St. Peter's Sunday evening.

GROUNDS WERE PACKED.

Concordia College Camps Filled on Hospital Day.

Between three and four thousand people crowded the Concordia college grounds Sunday on the occasion of the annual Lutheran hospital day when the patronage of those from the various congregations and other friends was sufficiently liberal to considerably swell the maintenance fund for the hospital. The ladies and girls had booths prettily arranged for selling refreshments and souvenirs and the crowd was well cared for at dinner, following the religious services. Receipts of $33,169.75 and expenditures of $28,370.93 are shown in the annual report submitted by Treasurer August Freese, who stated that a balance of $558.53 was on hand the 1st of May. During the year ending on that date 808 patients were cared for and of these but forty-three died. There are thirty-three members in the training school for nurses, this feature of the institution being one of the most satisfactory.

WAS NOT TO BE DOWNED.

J. M. Dennis, an energetic and industrious farmer of Aboit township, is getting a peculiar satisfaction out of the fact that though the big new barn built after several years of close saving was blown down by a heavy wind storm last spring, he now has another new barn that is similar to the one destroyed. The destruction of his barn with many head of cattle and numerous crops and farming implements in the space of about five minutes greatly discouraged him at first, but he soon buckled to it again and he is planning a celebration over his new barn.

In this country about 16 per cent of the divorces are granted after three or four years of married life. The record of bone yield from a single whale was 3,100 pounds, which at the time was worth nearly $20,000.

How Money Is Wasted On 5-Cent Cans

What you get the right brand of Evaporated Milk, you are wasting one-third if you buy in 5-cent cans. Please read these facts and see.

Let us say at the start that every grocer has 5-cent cans of Van Camp's. They are just as large as the 5-cent cans of any other brand. And we sell more than the 10-cent cans, because of this reason: So, we don't give these facts to attack competition. They are simply to show how to get the most for your money.

Six Ounces for 5 Cents

All makers give six ounces of Evaporated Milk for five cents.

It matters not how much the milk is reduced by evaporation. It may be reduced as much as Van Camp's, or only partly as much. All charge five cents for six ounces. So you get just as much of Van Camp's for five cents as you get of the poorest brands on the market.

But you get but six ounces of any.

Sixteen Ounces, 10 Cents

Is the 10-cent can of Van Camp's the tall can—you get sixteen ounces of evaporated milk.

That means an even plat. It means exactly one-third more for the money than you get in the 5-cent cans.

In Van Camp's you get 8 per cent of butter fat, about 28 percent total solids. That is because we use rich, Holstein milk. And because we evaporate by far the larger part of the water. If you put back the water which we take out, you get about three pints of very rich milk out of a 10-cent can.

And that rich milk will cost you, if you buy Van Camp's by the case, just about six cents per quart.

That's what you ought to pay. But the same milk in 5-cent cans—cream which bought by the case—costs you over eight cents per quart.

The Mistake Lies Here

You who buy 5-cent cans don't get the full good of Van Camp's. You use it for coffee and cereals, perhaps. But you probably use raw milk in your cooking.

That is a great mistake.

Van Camp's is fully twice better for cooking than the average run of raw milk. Raw milk always separates, for the butter fat rises and the solids fall. So raw milk used in cooking is rarely whole milk.

In Van Camp's you get the whole milk—all of the butter fat and all of the solids, belonging to the richest milk.

If you will try Van Camp's in only one milk dish you will never use any other. Note the flavor, the richness you get from it.

Van Camp's is fine on the table, of course. But it is also fine in the kitchen. It has twice the worth of raw milk.

Another Mistake

Then some people think that evaporated milk doesn't keep when the can is opened.

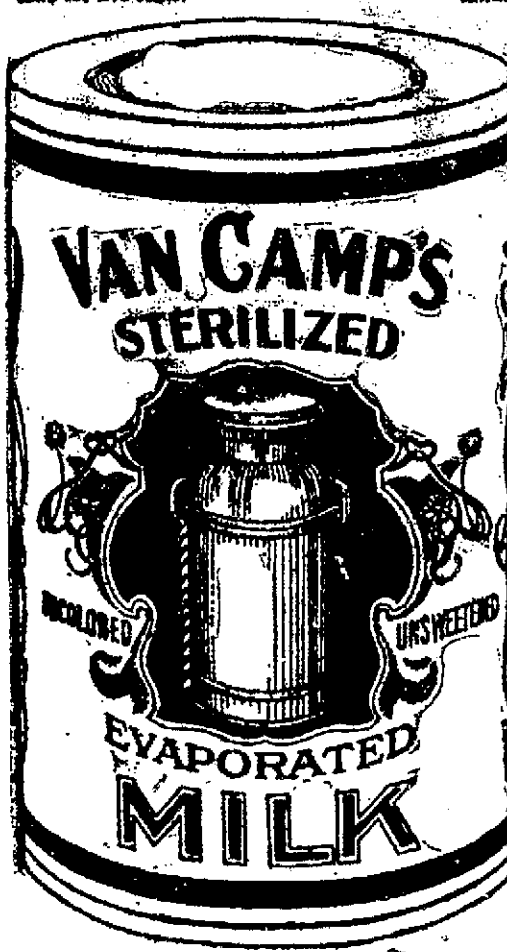

It will keep if you get Van Camp's. In usual weather, it keeps 24 hours and it keeps 48 hours or longer on ice.

Keep it in the can until you use it up, for the can won't hurt it any.

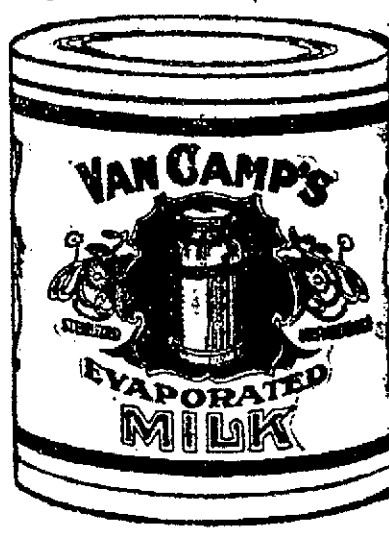

In the long run, what is best for you is also best for us. That's why we publish these facts.

Get the most for your money. Buy the pint cans—the 10-cent cans. Then ask your grocer to quote you his discount by the case.

You save money by buying 48 cans at a time. And you save all of the trouble of buying from hand to mouth.

Maudie F. Sperry in Honor List.

A few months ago the Chicago Tribune offered three prizes for scenarios from the pens of amateur writers, the subjects to be wholesome and virile and the locale, American. There were eleven hundred responses to the Tribune's offer and a few weeks ago forty-two selections were published as being the best culled from the total. In that list in third place appeared the name of Miss Maudie F. Sperry, Fort Wayne and her play, "Anne of Everywhere." Sunday's Tribune announced the winners of the three prizes and gave besides a list of ten plays as receiving honorable mention. Miss Sperry's name appeared in the latter list and of the play itself, Ella W. Beattie, the literary reviewer for the Tribune, writes: "Anne of Everywhere" was another strong play. This was the story of an artist's model, a sort of human X-ray. Wherever she went she saw things as they really were, and no matter what anybody said to her, she knew the truth. The atmosphere of this play was fascinating and its conversation was glancing and full of charm." Fort Wayne friends of Miss Sperry, who have read her play, speak of it in the highest terms.

This gown is of pure violet satin—the soft, bluish violet shade which is extravagantly popular in Paris just now. Fringe, buttons and embroidery carry out the one tone, violet effect, the embroidered stole at the front extending over the top of the bodice.

DEEP BREATHING DEVELOPS CHEST.

Deep breathing has much to do with having a good figure. If the chest is flat and contracted, as must be if the lungs are not filled, a woman cannot make a good appearance.

It is astonishing that, with wearing very tight stays, the diaphragm may be expanded when the lungs are filled to the lowest depth. That is, in spite of lacing, there is still room for the lungs to be inflated. To breathe deeply does not mean a large waist line, and such practice may reduce the hip measure. The lower lungs cannot be inflated unless one is standing correctly.

I think that each night before going to bed a woman should try to touch the floor with her finger tips without bending the knees. If she can accomplish this the exercise will keep her supple and if she cannot do it she certainly needs practice. For this movement the hands are held high above the head and brought down with a sweeping motion while the knees are kept stiff. Should they bend there is no benefit to be derived. By their remaining rigid pull is made from the waist and hips and long and constant practice will reduce the measurement there. The work must never be done while wearing tight bands.

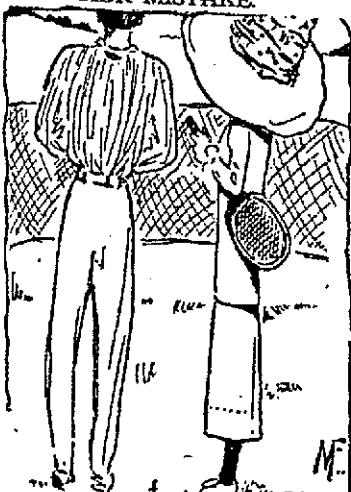

A GOOD USE OF REMNANTS.

The small remnants of cretonne, dimity, lawn, chambray, etc., that can now be brought cheap in the wash goods sections of the department stores are most desirable for making ones to hold dainty white blouses that are to be packed into vacation trunks. These cases are large and envelope in shape, like a bag with a flap, and are quickly fashioned. A button and buttonhole form a secure closing. Or the model with two raw edges brought together in the middle after doubling the goods is equally convenient. The raw edges should be hemmed and fitted with tapes to tie. Then the sides (sewed) must be sewed and then the waists slipped into the slit. These are kept in place by the tapes, that must be carefully tied to avoid crushing.

LOOK FOR BELL BARGAINS.

Women who desire exclusive designs in belts, yet cannot afford the extreme prices these accessories bring, frequently buy odd looking buckles at bargain prices and then get remnants of belting at reduced prices. Odds and ends of expensive goods are often found in a box or basket marked at half their value. White lingerie in belt lengths may sometimes be bought for fifteen cents, black and white silk more at a similar price, and elastic beltings—that boon to the stout woman—at even less.

HER MISTAKE.

Ethel—May said I couldn't play on the face of it.
Jack—She's wrong, you hit her on the nose four times yesterday.

WOMEN'S FADS.

The wash dresses for women can be bought so cheap in the stores that every one is tempted to invest in at least one or two. The stout woman of short or medium stature often finds when she reaches home with her bargain that the skirt will be too long and the dress too small in the waist. The bust measure will probably be correct, as she has bought according to this measurement. Then, to correct these defects, instead of shortening the frock at the bottom the best plan is to take up the skirt at the belt and cut the extra material from the top. This is presuming that the model is plain over the hips. There will probably be fullness at the belt (coming from the shoulders), and this could be let out after releasing the stitches necessary, the belt made longer from the scraps cut away from the top of the skirt. The skirt should then be replaced at the belt and the fit will be excellent without much trouble and for no extra expense. It must be remembered when altering that cotton usually shrinks with the first washing.

A pretty crepe waist seen recently that would be easy to copy at home was just the model for morning wear that would suit an elderly woman. The front was laid in groups of two fairly deep tucks, divided with narrow heading threaded with black velvet. These ran from shoulder to belt, a row of the threaded heading being sent down the center front. The stock collar was edged with a threaded heading and a loose rosette of the velvet was added under the chin. The long sleeves were tucked in groups ending at wrists with the threaded heading and a smaller rosette.

CANNED PICKLED BEETS.

Cook young beets in boiling salted water until tender. If small, pack in wide mouthed jars whole. If large, slice. Add to good cider vinegar, salt, sugar and pepper to taste; throw in a few whole cloves; scald, skim and pour over the beets. Can and keep in a cool, dark place. Another way of canning beets is to cook as for the table until tender. Skin and pack in glass jars. To each quart add two tablespoonsful white sugar and a teaspoonful salt. Cover with equal parts good cider vinegar and water boiling hot, and seal at once.

Pattern for Overskirt Apron

3 SIZES 34-38-42 BUST

Another pretty apron is pictured here, and it is of an entirely different model from any that has been previously shown. The design is cut in three sizes—small, medium and large. It will fit women whose bust measure is between thirty-four and forty-two inches.

To copy it in the medium size three and one-half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, or two and one-half yards thirty-six inches in width, will be needed.

This apron may be made from any of the weaves generally used for such garments and will be useful to protect the front of the waist and skirt when one does not wish to wear a regular kitchen apron that envelops the whole frock.

This model is in two pieces, the skirt and bib portions, which are joined under a belt of the material. At the back it is held in place at the waist line by a button and button hole.

The pronounced overskirt effect, which is the distinguishing feature of this design, make it particularly desirable for wear at fairs, etc., where aprons of a picturesque character are often part of the costumes.

At one such function the aids wore frocks of plain white, with Dutch collars of pink linen, and aprons of pink lawn made in this style. The ruffle was of white and the edges were trimmed with three narrow bias bands of pink lawn.

This idea could be carried out in any color, but the best effect may be obtained if the frocks are of either black or white. Besides, for the majority of girls such a selection will be a saving of both time and money, as almost every wardrobe contains at least one dress of black and one of white.

For girls who like the pretty and becoming jumper effects, shaped straps could be arranged over the shoulders from either side of the bib at the top to the waist line at the back.

These straps could be edged with a narrow ruffle.

A point would be a pretty finish for them at each end and they could be held in place by buttonholes and fancy buttons.

S.S.S. THE CURE FOR SCROFULA

The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands of the neck, sores and ulcers on the body, skin affections, catarrhal troubles, weak eyes, and general poor health. The inherited poison, transmitted through the blood, pollutes and weakens this fluid, and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter, which saps the vitality of the entire system. Thousands of children, born with a scrofulous taint, have spent their childhood in constant physical suffering, and grown to manhood or womanhood handicapped by ill health and stunted growth, and perhaps later some disease of the bones or joints developed. S. S. S., given in their early life, would have prevented this. It would have cleansed and purified the blood of the taint, nourished and strengthened their systems, and assisted each to grow into strong, healthy manhood or womanhood. S. S. S. is the very best remedy for Scrofula. It goes down to the bottom of the trouble, and cleanses the circulation of all scrofulous matter. It supplies the weak, diseased blood with strength and health-building qualities, and under the purifying effects of this great remedy all symptoms of Scrofula pass away. S. S. S. contains no minerals in any form, and is an absolutely safe treatment for children, even infants, or persons of any age. Literature about Scrofula and any medical advice free.

WHERE DO THE SCHOOL BOYS GO?

Ten Thousand Employers of United States Looking to Trade Schools For Skilled Workmen of the Future.

How Trade Schools of Winona Technical Institute, Take the Place of Old Apprenticeship Method.

The school authorities and employers of skilled workmen have been looking into the results of schooling in the United States, with some startling results. They have found that there are about 18,000,000 pupils in the public schools, and not more than 6,000,000 of them get beyond the fifth grade. Of this 6,000,000 not more than 2,500,000 get through the eighth grade. Only 650,000 get through high school, and not over 200,000 go on to college. The particular point searched for has been to learn what becomes of those who leave the public schools before their education there is finished and who do not get into the high schools and colleges. The seekers after this fact have found that half the number is boys who go into the world to work as day laborers or to gather up a smattering of some trade.

The results of this investigation has brought grave concern to the large employers of skilled workmen, who say that while on the face of the returns many thousands of boys every year begin to learn trades, there is a shortage of from 10 to 50 per cent of skilled workmen in the workshops of the United States. The employers have found that for all the hue and cry they make for more and better workmen, their forces cannot be recruited by employers teaching the boys trades in their own shops, as has been done heretofore. The strenuous competition, the unceasing demand for greater and better output of shop and factory, has resulted in such a tremendous pace in the industries of this country that there is no time to train an apprentice and give him an all-round knowledge of some trade, as was done back in early times. In a printing office, for instance, a boy becomes a feeder of a press at a few dollars a week. So long as he is content to remain a press-feeder at low wages he will stay at a machine year after year, and this is as far along the road to becoming a printer as he will get. Some feeders, of course, get by this point and become pressmen at better wages. But taking the workshops of the country as a whole and they contain thousands of boys who do not finish the public schools and who are "tied to a post" by performing one particular task in a shop, or factory, until they become as much of a machine as the one they operate.

It was this condition as found by the employers which has prompted six national associations of employers to go into the effort of training boys to become skilled workmen, to give them complete knowledge of a trade, as was once done by the apprenticeship method. These six associations have concentrated their efforts in the trade schools of Winona Technical Institute, at Indianapolis, and they are making of the institute "the school that gives the boy a chance." These six associations represent 10,000 industrial concerns of the United States, which have on their payrolls the great bulk of skilled workmen—hundreds of thousands of them. The United Typothe-tice, made up of employing printers, has given $9,000 to the institute's School of Printing to be used as a scholarship fund, and has helped in gathering up $60,000 worth of equipment for the school. The National Founders' Association has given $12,000 in scholarships to the School for Iron Moulders and has gathered equipment worth many thousands for the use of the school.

The Metal Trades Association has given $12,000 for scholarships in the School for Machinists and is gathering up many thousands of dollars' worth of material for the school, which will soon open at the institute. The National Lithographers' Association has given $28,000 in scholarships and equipment to the School of Lithography. The Tlemakers of the United States have given $5,000 for scholarships in the School of Tile-Setting. The bricklayers have given $5,000 for the School of Bricklaying at the institute.

These gifts of money are followed up by close scrutiny on the part of the associations to see that boys in these schools get practical instruction. The associations do this through committees, each of which has one or more Indianapolis members, who are in constant touch with each school's affairs.

These committees select the instructors, and the men chosen are known to possess two qualifications: They know thoroughly the trade they are to teach, and they also know how to impart their knowledge to boys learning the trade.

The boy who goes to Winona Technical Institute gets his chance, whether he has money in his pocket or not. If he cannot pay the tuition, the amount needed, from $60 to $100 a year, is lent to him from a scholarship fund. He gives his note for the amount, which is to run for a period of years without interest. After finishing his schooling and going to work he begins to pay off this loan. Scores of boys have made such loans at the institute and they have returned several thousand dollars. As rapidly as the loans are repaid, they become money available to other boys who desire to borrow. Many of the boys pay their own tuition when entering the institute, so there are many of these scholarships untaken and are open to the first boys who apply for them.

The institute since it opened five years ago has had 1,500 students, and its graduates are now employed all over the United States. The institute cannot produce graduates as rapidly as employers desire to give them work. With their all-round knowledge of a trade, which they acquire in an institute workshop, many of them have quickly advanced to places as foremen and superintendents and other positions of responsibility.

There have been many striking instances in the institute of boys who are determined to get on in the world. They have gone to the institute without any money, worked their way through a trade school, and gone at once into permanent employment at good wages. One of these boys is a native of Porto Rico. He sailed from his island home with only enough money to carry him to Indianapolis, and when he entered the institute's School of Lithography he had two dollars in his pocket and had borrowed $100 from the scholarship fund to pay his tuition. He could hardly speak English, but employment as houseboy was found for him in an Indianapolis home, where he earned his bed and board, going to school through the day. He finished his schooling and is now employed at good wages with an Indianapolis concern as a full-fledged lithographer.

In the School for Iron Moulders there is a boy who was too ambitious to continue living in an Indianapolis orphan's home. He entered the School for Moulding without a cent in his pocket. He is paying his way with money he earns taking care of furnaces through the winter and with odd jobs about private homes through the summer, and he will make one of the best moulders this school has produced. A dozen jobs will be open to him as soon as he finishes his schooling.

Boys who enter the institute without means resort to many ways of earning money for incidental expenses. They take care of furnaces, mow lawns, drive delivery wagons, carry newspapers routes—anything that will give them an honest livelihood while they are learning a practical trade at the institute. They room and board in the private homes around the institute grounds.

Many fathers who are employers of skilled workmen send their sons to the institute to learn a trade in which the father is engaged, rather than teach the son in his own workshop, the boy going home to help the father carry on the business. Many employers, too, have taken alert boys out of their shops and sent them to the institute to get a better understanding of a trade, and such a boy usually goes back to his employer to become a foreman or a superintendent.

Scores of boys who have finished a trade at the institute have gone home to fire their companions with an ambition to become a skilled workman with his hands, and it is through this medium that the institute has in part seen its enrollment grow from year to year.

That the national associations of employers are realizing handsomely on their scholarship funds and gifts to the institute is strongly indicated by the eagerness with which these employers give employment to the graduates as rapidly as a boy can get his schooling.

CHOLERA INFANTUM CURED.

"Something like two years ago my baby, which was then about a year old, was taken seriously ill with cholera infantum, vomiting and purging profusely, writes J. F. Dempsey, of Dempey, Ala. I did what I could to relieve her but did her no good, and being very much alarmed about her went for a physician but failed to find one, so came back by Elder Bros. & Carter's store and Mr. Elder recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I procured a bottle of it, went home as quickly as possible and gave the baby a dose of the remedy. It relieved her in fifteen minutes and soon cured her entirely." For sale by all druggists.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 38, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial. This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

clude the head of the house in its excursion to the mountain or seashore, the better half should stay in town, too.

This conclusion is reached from interviews with leading New York residents, who agree that the city's "summer danger" is the separation of husbands and wives for the several months when the thermometer mounts skyward. Those approached on the subject are almost unanimous in the opinion that the men should not be left alone in the broiling metropolis while the women are inhaling cool breezes or splashing in the surf.

Father has a warm friend in Rev. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church. But while advocating his cause, Mr. Eaton admits that father is human, and that it's a good thing to have mother with him all the time.

Man Best With Family, Around. "Man is none too good under the best of circumstances," said Mr. Eaton, "and the best of circumstances are when his family is around. Consequently I do not believe that a husband and wife should separate during the vacation period."

"Vacations are necessary. The old saying, 'All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy,' is true. But the husband and wife should enjoy the vacation together, if possible. In true marriage relations the husband and wife are partners; but in New York, alas! the husband often is the earner and the wife the spender."

"While he is toiling away in the city the wife is 'doing' a society 'stunt' at some summer resort. Nearly always she lives or tries to live beyond her means. To buy her gowns, keep her amused, and give her a good time his nose is kept at the grindstone. This is unjust. The husband and wife should be partners. If a husband has to stay in the city and work, his wife should stay with him. What is sauce for the gander ought to be sauce for the goose."

Charles Burns, president of the Little Mothers' association, says the "unnecessary summer desertion of husbands and sons by selfish women takes on the importance of a social problem, if not a social evil."

Basis of Many Divorces. "I believe hundreds of divorce cases can be traced directly to the general custom of women refusing to share with their men folk the discomfort of hot weather in New York," she said. "I believe that many a man whose affections are wavering, whose interest in his home and wife is trembling in the balance, is pushed over the social abyss by the white, ringed hand of his own wife, as she turns toward the mountain or seashore resort."

"I believe that other men sincerely devoted to their wives and with the best of intentions and most honorable instincts are lured from all that they mean to be by moments of sheer loneliness and desperation. "The women whose selfishness is the social menace of the great city in the summer is the woman who gives two months' preparations to her summer campaign, bidding fair to outshine the peonies that grace the walks of the resort where she will parade in all her glory; then for three months leads a lazy, if not less creditable existence, avoiding every domestic and wifely responsibility, and finally returning in the cool autumn, supremely indifferent to what her husband has been doing or how he has been living in her absence."

Almost Menace to Community. "This business of breaking up families and homes during the summer," says Daniel Finn, one of the police magistrates of the metropolis, "has become more than a fact—it is almost a menace to the community. I can remember the time when a vacation of two weeks in the country seemed enough for anybody. Then it got to be a month, two months, all summer. Nowadays some wives and daughters are not satisfied unless they go away in May and stay until October."

The club is a comparatively safe place in which to plant the husband while the lady is at the seaside. But in New York City only a small portion of the married men belong to clubs. Let the woman, I say, stay in town for three months. Let her work by day in the inferno known as the commercial heart of New York. Let her go home at night to a house that smells of moth balls and camphor, rooms, intrusted to an irresponsible washerwoman or janitress, just half made up; to a refrigerator and pantry stocked with delicatessen shop fare—and what would she do? Pack her trunk and go home to mother."

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Never Known to Fail.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1872, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out on a trip without this, my faithful friend," says H. S. Nichols, of Oakland, Ind. Ter. For sale by all druggists.

New York having put a damper on the noise nuisance, now comes a wall from far off Los Angeles, where those who live on the umbrageous south side complain of the noise made by mocking birds singing in the magnolia trees in officers' ward elected. President at 4 o'clock in the morning.

WHAT IS BEST FOR INDIGESTION?

Mr. A. Robinson, of Drumquinn, Ontario, has been troubled for years with indigestion, and recommends Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets as "the best medicine I ever used." If troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at all druggists.

BROKE THE RECORD ON ROME CITY TRAVEL YESTERDAY

The G. R. & I Took 1,116
Fishermen to the Resort.

The two trains over the G. R. & I. yesterday morning that carried excursionists to Rome City made a new record in the number of passengers. The conductors report taking up just 1,116 tickets, which beats the previous best record by over 100. For the Saturday night trains there were sold 130 tickets reading to Rome City and the "Pond Lily" carried enough more on commuters tickets to bring the total for that evening up to the 300 point and the grand total for Saturday evening and Sunday morning up to over 1,400.

The Lake Shore also did a big business in selling tickets to fishermen Saturday evening and Sunday morning. Agent Plimling stating that the number exceeded 300. On its Cedar Point excursion yesterday, the Lake Shore had 130 Fort Wayne passengers and picked up upwards of 20 at other stations en route to the Point. The trip was made on schedule time, the weather delightful and every excursionist had a good time. The company has been asked to repeat the excursion and will quite likely do it. The Wabash sold 165 tickets to Toledo and Detroit yesterday, which was better than expected on account of the immense excursion to Detroit Saturday. The company also had an excursion from Toledo to Fort Wayne yesterday and brought in 203 passengers. Travel on the Nickel Plate was also fairly good yesterday and the Pennsylvania and the Interurban handled a heavy local business. The excursion to Winona over the Pennsylvania Saturday night on account of the Damrosch orchestra concert was not up to expectations, however, there being less than one hundred on the train when it arrived at Winona. Fully one-half of these were residents of Columbia City. Returning the special had a greater number of passengers, however, there being a number abroad who had gone to Winona on other trains during the day or earlier in the week.

EXCURSION BUSINESS.

Summer of 1929 Promises a New Record for Passengers.

Local passenger agents say that passenger business on their respective lines during the month of July, just closed, was far in excess of the business of the corresponding month of a year ago and equal, if it did not exceed, the business of July, 1927, before the business depression took place. Not only was travel heavy last month, but all of the excursions were mammoth affairs, eclipsing in number of participants the excursions given by Governor Marshall Declares Against Gambling at County Fairs.

Indianapolis, Aug. 2.—Governor Marshall will attempt to prevent gambling and other law violations at county fairs in the state and has addressed letters to every sheriff in Indiana requesting these officials to keep a sharp lookout for violations of the law during the fair season.

"There is no reason," the governor wrote, "why the law should be enforced for fifty-one weeks in the year and set aside for one week in order that gambling devices may be set up on a fair ground."

PLAYERS AFRAID OF FIELDS UPON MOUND.

Charlie Alberts was hit pretty hard all through and in the sixth he looked like he was going to blow up but he came back strong and was never in any danger. Two of his trips to bat he drove in runs and once he hit and scored on Blount's triple.

Frankie Donahue is the bunting kid and looks good in second place in the batting list. He advanced Blount for the first run in the first game and worked a squeeze with him in the eighth sending over a run. Heckinger didn't have much throwing to do as there were no attempts to steal on him. He hit twice in the first game and scored two runs. Fremmer got into the first game just in time to break it up. He scored Elston with his double and got over himself on a wild throw.

Channell drove two runs, one with a hit and the other with a nice sacrifice fly and his catch. Kehoe's fly was a fancy piece of work. Elston fattened up his batting average in the second game with four hits out of five times up and while Walter Miller failed to get a hit in his game he got on twice and scored two of the runs.

Hammond was in good form in the game Saturday afternoon and held Grand Rapids to five hits. Once he was in grave danger but Humphries cut second base which fell under the eagle eye of Jack Linsay who retired him and Nick Kahl kicked so much about it he was canned out of the game.

SAW HEAVY SERVICE.

Street Car Traffic Sunday Near Season's Record—Other Crows.

Yesterday was a day of crowds in Fort Wayne, the people being gathered during the afternoon either at Robison park, the ball grounds or at the Cordia college campus, resulting in the streets being almost depopulated. It is estimated that nearly 4,000 people attended the Lutheran hospital day services and the tabulation at the ball park showed an attendance of 3,461. During the afternoon and evening Robison park was visited by between 6,000 and 7,000 people. It was at the dropping of the sun and the springing up of the light evening breeze that the streets became crowded and the street car traffic grew the heaviest. Superintendent Raver says that the record of 100,000 fares collected on June 26 was nearly equalled yesterday.

CATARRH CANNOT BE CURED WITH LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

The Autumn styles in Women's Tailored Suits are fixed, and the first showing in Fort Wayne of these new fashions is made at this store. We cordially invite inspection of this advance showing of the new models. Each model shown is authoritative and the product of leading Eastern manufacturers. In our west window today some of these suits are shown.

A WORD ABOUT THE STYLE FEATURES

Of course every woman is interested in the coming season's styles, and this initial showing gives a fair idea of what will be good for fall. The smartly tailored effects have jackets that range from 36 to 45 inches in length, fitted and semi-fitted models to becomingly suit any figure. The skirts are plain gored, kilt plaited, cluster plaited, knee plaited, yoke hip effect and strapped.

THE POPULAR COLORS FOR FALL

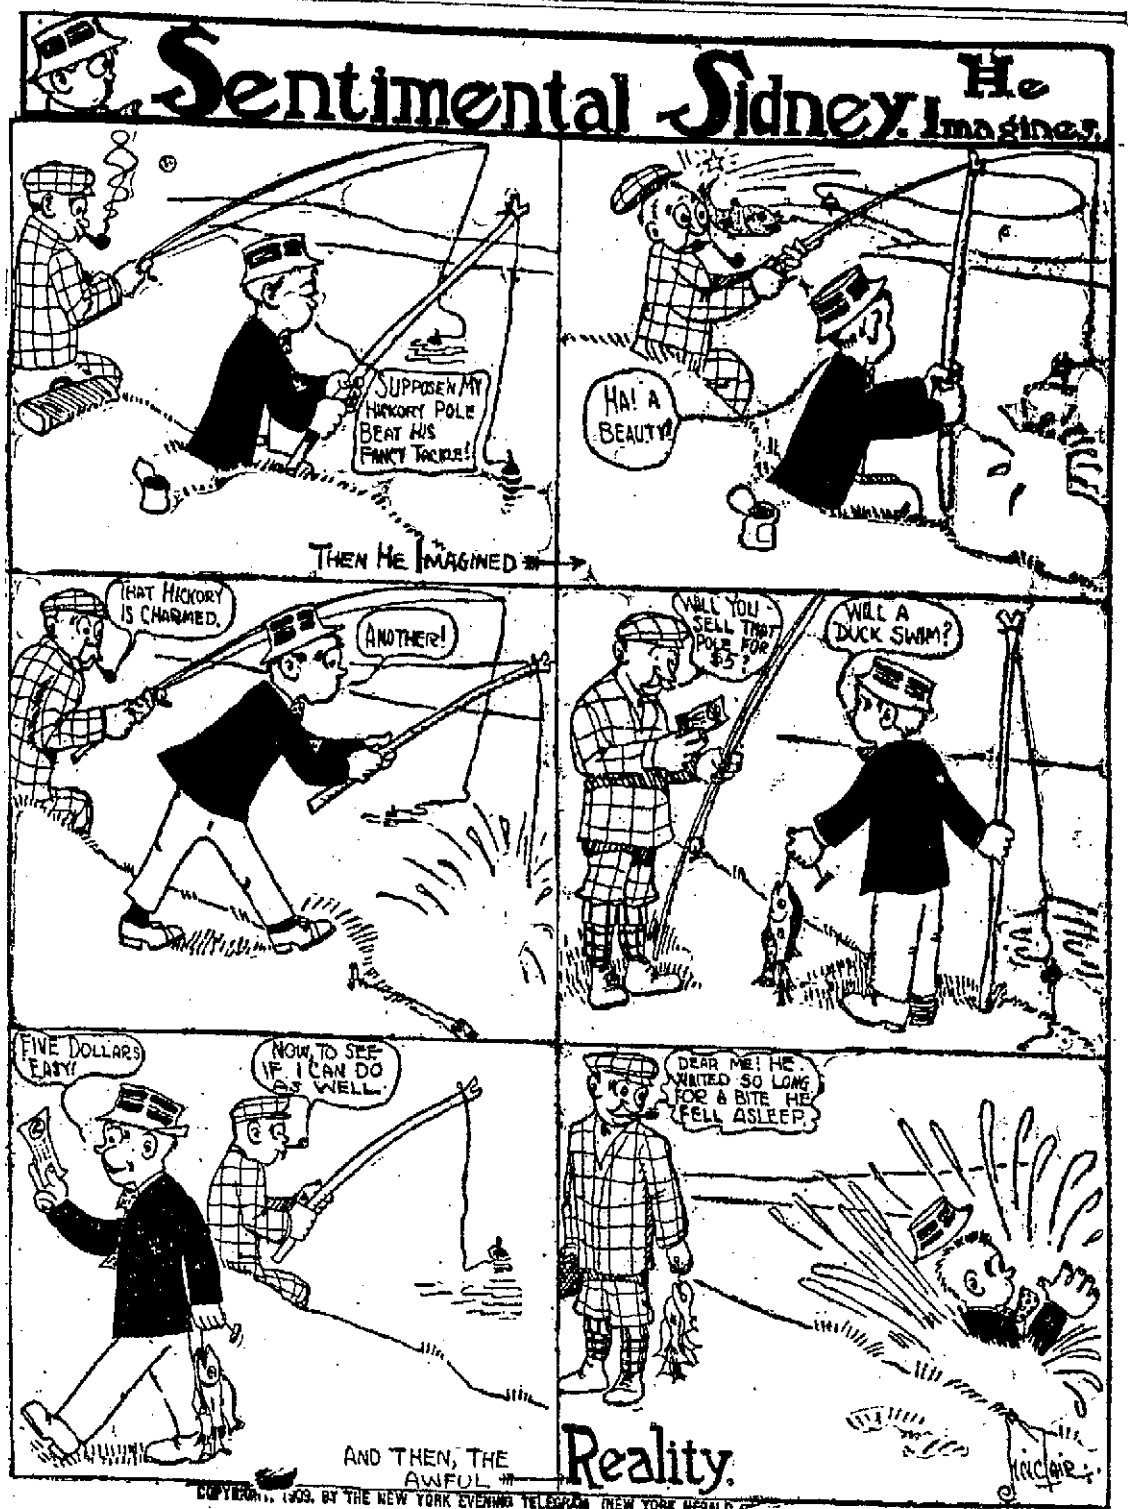

Besides the staple black, blues and browns, the leading colors are bronze mode, artichoke, duck, wine, rose, myrtle, tan, walnut, smoke, greys, green, taupe, copenhagen and oxford.

AS TO MATERIALS

The materials the new suits are built of are serviceable serges, bedford cords, stripe worsted, herring bones, English mixed cloths, plain worsted, French serges, striped prunellas, and sturdy cheviot finished diagonals.

AND THE PRICES—

This initial display does not consist of a few high priced novelties only—quite the contrary. Starting at $12.00 for a stylish made suit of all-wool material, the prices range from $15.00, $20.00, $25.00 on up to $40.00. The comprehensiveness of the price range enables those who want a smart traveling suit right now to have the very newest thing at a decidedly moderate outlay.
